VLADIVOSTOK FLEET NOT READY

Says the Japanese War Office for Another Raid—Details of Several Skirmishes.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—The following dispatch from General Stoessel, in command of Port Arthur, dated September 30, was received today: "Since the attacks on September 22 all has been quiet, though there have been daily skirmishes and artillery bombardments. The Russians make sorties daily."

"From September 19 to September 23 the Japanese bombarded and assaulted the forts to the northwest of Port Arthur, but were repulsed. The Japanese only gained two small redoubts which were wrecked by the bombardment. The Japanese destroyed the aqueduct.

"The assault on Fort Visoky was repulsed at 5 a.m. on September 23. The Japanese had their machine guns in position when General Konratrenko ordered the sappers to charge them with hand grenades filled with nitro-glycerine. The Japanese fled in panic." General Stoessel estimates that the Japanese losses in the four days' fighting were ten thousand killed and wounded.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—(Bulletin)—A dispatch from the front today reports that a force of Japanese surrounded the Russian reconnoitering patrol near Mukden. The Russians cut their way and returned to camp with some captured convoys. The Japanese are entrenched at Fouline. The weather is very cold.

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 5.—General Kuroki appears to be trying to turn the Russian left, while the Japanese main army is marching forward against the Russian center.

Russian Commander Recalled. London, Oct. 5.—The Central News has a dispatch from St. Petersburg today stating that it is officially announced that Major General Orloff, commander of the 54th division, and Romanoff, commander of the Sixth Siberian division, have been recalled. Maj. Gen. Orloff, it was announced some days ago, had been tried by court martial and recalled because he had permitted Gen. Kuroki to turn the Russian left flank at Liao Yang, over which Orloff had command.

Third Russian Army. Paris, Oct. 5.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg today confirms the report that a third Russian army is about to be formed. Gen. Loubovitsky of the Ninth army corps will be in command.

Tokyo, Oct. 5.—The navy department discredits a report that the Russian cruisers Rossia, Gromoboi and Bogatyr have been repaired at Vladivostok and are about to descend for another raid upon the Japanese coast. The navy department further expresses the belief that the Bogatyr is completely disabled.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—General Sakharov sends the following dispatch to the war office:

"One Russian patrol dispersed two Japanese patrols in the vicinity of Tchiantjan, on the right bank of the Hun river, taking three Japanese prisoners.

"At dawn of Oct. 1 a squadron of Japanese cavalry twice attempted to break through the line of advance posts of Cossacks of the guard in the district between Khankhuania and Fengtiau. Both attempts were unsuccessful. Two sotnias of our cavalry reinforced the advance posts and the Japanese dispersed.

"Toward noon the same day one battalion of the Japanese advance guard, with two or three squadrons of cavalry, renewed the offensive movement against a regiment of Cossacks. The firing lasted until nightfall. General Mistchenko sent reinforcements to the aid of the Cossacks, and toward evening the enemy was repulsed at all points, the whole line retreating toward Sialionkhetz, pursued by our cavalry.

"Captain Tolstoukine, commander of a sotnia, ambushed one of the enemy's patrols at Konschutzy. One Japanese officer was killed.

"In the positions abandoned by the Japanese our Cossacks found a number of cartridges and medical stores, and also a few dead horses. We had two officers and two Cossacks wounded. The same day a Japanese force of one battalion and a half and a squadron of cavalry attacked in three divisions our outpost between the Hun river and the railway. Toward evening this movement was checked with the help of another company, which reinforced the outpost. One Cossack was killed and one wounded.

"Another Russian patrol sent in an easterly direction discovered Twang-hau pass occupied by 200 Chinese bandits, commanded by Japanese officers. During the reconnaissance one Cossack was killed."

JEWISH HOMES ARE PLUNDERED MANY INJURED

Russian Officers Looked on With Amusement.

Desperate Conflict in Which 68 Jews
Were Wounded, Three Dying from Their Injuries.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—(Bulletin)—Prominent Jews here have received information of extensive anti-Semitic riots at Rudinia, in the province of Mohilev, Russia. Russian infantry marching toward the front combined with the peasants and made an onslaught on the Ghetto. They plundered and wrecked Jewish homes, shot and beat the Jews and outraged the Jewesses. A group of Hebrews barricaded themselves in a synagogue and defended themselves. A desperate conflict occurred in which 68 Jews were wounded, three of them dying from their injuries. The military officers and police watched the Jew baiting with amusement.

WORSE
Is Macedonian Situation
Becoming—Murders
are Common.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—The Macedonian situation is daily becoming worse. Bulgarian bands are constantly attacking villages, abducting and killing notables and forcing people to leave the Greek for the Bulgarian church. The Greek patriarch appealed to the sultan for intervention on his part in this forced wholesale departure from the Greek faith, but Abdul Hamid declined to grant him an audience. The patriarch is now circularizing the powers in the matter.

Many Lives Lost
Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 5.—Reports received from different points in the territory show that the loss of life in the floods that have occurred in the past week was greater than at first thought. At least 20 persons perished and all sections have not been definitely heard from. Ten Santa Fe passenger trains are tied up at Santa Fe, but passengers are being sent east and west over the Rock Island and Southern Pacific roads, connection being effected through the Santa Fe Central, which has resumed operations.

Negro Missing
Perry, Okla., Oct. 5.—A negro named Rivers was taken from Sheriff Smith and two deputies by a mob of 100 or more men. Nothing has since been heard of the prisoner, and it is believed he was lynched. Rivers was bound over to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of attempting criminal assault last Friday night on Mrs. Williams, a white woman.

Episcopaleans Meet
Boston, Oct. 5.—The triennial convention of the Episcopal church of the United States opened here today. It is the greatest gathering of Episcopaleans ever seen in America and is the supreme legislative body of the denomination. This year for the first time in the history of the church in the United States, or of the established church of England, the Archbishop of Canterbury the primate of all England, comes to America as the guest of the members and bishops of the American dioceses and attends an American convention. The bishops of the church, numbering 91, compose the house of bishops, whose sessions are held behind closed doors.

The other house is known as the house of clerical and lay deputies and consists of four clerical and four lay representatives from each diocese in the church.

The deputies and alternates number about 1100, but the attendance will run about 5000.

IN THE FLOODS IN NEW MEXICO TWENTY DEAD

Trains are Tied Up on the Santa Fe.

Telegraph and Telephone Wires Are Down and News is Hard to Obtain.
Seven Men Missing.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 5.—Seven men are missing of a party of eight men who went down with the wagon bridge between Lexington and Purcell, after battling with the swift rush of waters for many hours in their vain attempt to prevent the bridge from going out, the only connection between the two towns. Judge Hocken, who lives at Byers, near Lexington, is the man heard from, but he can tell nothing of the other men.

The names of five others known to have been on the bridge when it went down are: — Woller, manager of the mill at Purcell; Cliff Cooley, a boy, Purcell; — Williams, Purcell; — Carnell, near Lexington; Will Taylor, a boy, Lexington.

As all telegraph and telephone wires in the south and southwest portions of Oklahoma and the southeastern part of the Indian Territory in the flooded districts are down, information is hard to get, but that obtainable is to the effect that the waters are receding. The Enid and Anadarko bridge in Caddo county, the Sapulpa-Denison division bridge on the Frisco line at Francis, I. T., and the Choctaw bridge at Calvin, I. T., have gone down. Santa Fe trains coming into this city from the north go as far as Noble and come back. Trains east on the Choctaw can not go farther than Holdenville. West on the same road, they turn back at Geary. No mails have been received from the south and southwest for many hours.

Robert Holland of Springfield, Mo., assistant superintendent of the Frisco, arrived here, and after an examination of the damage done at Mustang, where the big Frisco bridge went down Tuesday, says if the waters continue to recede at the present rate he will have a force of men at work there today. The Rock Island sent out a large number of men to repair its tracks and clear away for the rebuilding of bridges.

Five Miles of Track Gone.

Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 5.—In the history of the Santa Fe no such damage has been sustained before as in that stretch," declared General Manager Mudge, who arrived here after walking nine miles through Shoemaker's canyon. Fully five miles of track have been washed away and two great iron bridges are gone. In places the washout is complete, the entire roadbed having been destroyed beyond hope of repair. It will be necessary to blast a long distance in the solid bluff in order to build a new roadbed.

Resolutions were adopted to the following effect: That it is the duty of government authorities to promote the establishment and maintenance of municipal sanitariums, in which the tuberculous patients may be isolated from their relatives and the public, and where they may be placed under suitable conditions for the cure or arrest of the disease.

Resolutions were adopted to the following effect: That it is the duty of Health Boards to report cases of this disease; that, to facilitate the early diagnosis of this disease it is the duty of every municipality to provide laboratory facilities for the microscopic and bacteriologic examination of sputa; and that systematic efforts be made for the education of the public in relation to the curability of tuberculosis, through the circulation of pamphlets, the holding of health conventions and the organization of local and state societies for the suppression of the disease.

The committee on resolutions was composed of the following: Chairman, Dr. F. E. Daniel, Austin, Texas; Secretary, Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Battle Creek; Dr. Denslow Lewis, Chicago; Dr. E. E. Kitchen, Ontario, Canada; Dr. Q. Kohnke, New Orleans; Dr. M. Foster, Sacramento; Dr. A. E. Hatchett, Council Bluffs.

Dr. Denslow Lewis of Chicago, advocated publicity regarding tuberculosis. He also favored the German system of compulsory life insurance for working people, and detailed the value of institutional treatment.

CABINET SEAT IS DEMANDED BY RESOLUTION

To Suppress the Scourge Tuberculosis.

Resolutions Calling Upon Governments and Cities to Enact Laws Against Spread of Disease.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Preventive legislation was the subject which opened the discussion at the second day's session of the International Congress on "Tuberculosis." The speakers told of ways and means that might be enforced through legislation for the prevention of the infection and spread of consumption.

The papers presented at the ensuing discussions dealt with legislation, compelling state and national governments to inspect closely not only public buildings and vehicles of transportation, but also tenement districts and school. It was also suggested that beneficial results would be attained by the segregation of the tubercular insane in asylums and hospitals.

The session was opened by an address by Clark Bell, member of the New York Bar, and discussions followed.

In the following resolutions, which were adopted, the main purposes for which the congress convened are outlined:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the American International Congress of Tuberculosis that it is the imperative duty of all civilized governments to take immediate action for the arrest of the spread of this scourge. And, further, that it is the sense of this congress that every government should appoint a commission of the public health, with a seat in the cabinet, empowered with adequate authority and means to suppress tuberculosis.

Considerable discussion arose over the question of establishing municipal sanitariums, as an outgrowth of which the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That it is the duty of government authorities to promote the establishment and maintenance of municipal sanitariums, in which the tuberculous patients may be isolated from their relatives and the public, and where they may be placed under suitable conditions for the cure or arrest of the disease.

Resolutions were adopted to the following effect: That it is the duty of Health Boards to report cases of this disease; that, to facilitate the early diagnosis of this disease it is the duty of every municipality to provide laboratory facilities for the microscopic and bacteriologic examination of sputa; and that systematic efforts be made for the education of the public in relation to the curability of tuberculosis, through the circulation of pamphlets, the holding of health conventions and the organization of local and state societies for the suppression of the disease.

PAYNE IS DEAD END PEACEFUL LAST EVENING

Demise Due to Disease of the Heart.

Geo. B. Cortelyou Will be His Successor After the Close of Present Campaign.

Washington, Oct. 5.—First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne was this morning formally designated by the President to perform the duties of postmaster general pending the appointment of a new member of the cabinet to take the place of Mr. Payne.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Flags on the government buildings are flying at half staff today, out of respect of the late postmaster general. As a further tribute, the President will issue a general order closing the various executive departments on Friday, the day of the public funeral here. The post office department will also order to be closed during the hours of the funeral every post office in the United States.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general of the United States, a member of the national Republican committee, a stalwart of his party, with the history of which both in his home state and nationally he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington hotel at 6:10 o'clock last night, aged 60 years. The cause of death was announced in the official bulletin issued by the attending physicians as disease of the mitral valve and dilation of the heart.

Mr. Payne had been in poor health for at least two years, but his last illness covered only seven days, an attack of heart trouble last week precipitating the end at a time when, after a rest, he seemed to have recovered a small measure of his vitality impaired by years of arduous labor. Death came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness.

Mr. Payne, the devoted wife, remained constantly near her husband, rendering every possible aid, comforting him and hoping for the best. She bore up with remarkable fortitude.

Resolutions were adopted to the following effect: That it is the duty of government authorities to promote the establishment and maintenance of municipal sanitariums, in which the tuberculous patients may be isolated from their relatives and the public, and where they may be placed under suitable conditions for the cure or arrest of the disease.

Socialist Speaks.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—Charles Hunter Corrigan of Syracuse, N. Y., Socialist Labor candidate for president, spoke for an hour and a half on the public square in this city in advocacy of the principles of his party as a method of relieving the alleged inequalities of the present industrial system. Mr. Corrigan made an earnest plea for a consideration of those principles by the laboring man.

Protects Workingmen's Wages.

Akron, O., Oct. 5.—Judge Kohler in common pleas court handed down an important decision on the 10 per cent law. Judge Kohler held that 10 per cent is all that can be held out of the wages of a married man, and that all creditors must take their share of this amount. This is the first time a decision has been obtained on this question.

SOCIAL A SUCCESS.

The recent social given in the parlors of the East Main street M. E. church last night, was in every respect a success. A very large company of old and young were present to enjoy the occasion. Mr. S. S. Brown made the opening address, stating that the unprecedented success of last year's work was gratifying to all. He extended a warm welcome to the pastor, declaring that he believed what he said of praise and appreciation of Rev. Locke's work, met with a hearty response in the entire membership of the church. Rev. Swartz spoke in a few well-chosen words and the pastor made reply, expressing himself in the highest appreciation of the cordial welcome he had received. An elegant lunch was served, free to all, consisting of sandwiches, wafers, cheese, cake, pickles and coffee. The affair had been planned and was executed by the official board, and was in every way all that could be desired.

WOODMEN

VISIT THEIR BRETHREN OVER IN ZANESVILLE.

Delegation of 100 Members of Cedar Camp Went to the Clay City on Tuesday Night.

A delegation of about one hundred members of Cedar Camp, No. 47 Modern Woodmen of this city, together with the celebrated Forester team, went to Zanesville on Tuesday night to put on the work there for a class of candidates. The Newark crowd went on a special interurban car, leaving the station here at 6:30 o'clock p. m., the fare for the round trip being 40 cents. The trip down was a fairly one, and no accidents occurred to mar the enjoyment. When the crowd arrived at Zanesville they were met by a special reception committee and escorted to the hall and the utmost courtesy was extended to all the Newark brothers. The magnificent hall of Buckeye Camp of Woodmen of Zanesville was crowded to its utmost capacity to accommodate their own members and the Newark visitors.

The work of adoption was immediately placed in charge of the Newark officers and team, and seventeen candidates were adopted into the rites and privileges of Woodcraft, the work of adoption being performed in the usual splendid manner characteristic of Cedar Camp.

At the close of the work very appetizing collation was served, consisting of sandwiches, cake, weinerwurst fruit and lemonade, after which the cigars were passed.

Buckeye Camp fairly outdid herself in the splendid entertainment given the Newark Neighbors.

A symposium of speech making then followed, during which Rees E. Jones, O. P. Young, N. C. Sherburne, Judge E. M. P. Blister, J. W. Lambert, Joseph Brownfield and many others responded to brief and appropriate toasts.

The Newark members arrived home at 1 o'clock this morning, a little tired, but having enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

REGISTRATION DAYS

Every voter in the city of Newark is required to register this year in order to enable him to cast his ballot this fall. Everybody who is by reason of age, legal residence and other qualification of citizenship, eligible to vote for President, Tuesday, November 8, 1904, MUST REGISTER anew this year, regardless of any and all previous registrations.

The days for registration are as follows:

THURSDAY, OCT. 13.

THURSDAY, OCT. 20.

FRIDAY, OCT. 28.

SATURDAY, OCT. 29.

One of the big meetings of the campaign will be addressed by Hon. Bourke Cochran at Columbus. The date has not yet been fixed, but it is settled that the occasion will be the important one of the campaign for the Democracy of Central Ohio.

The beef trust, it is declared with some flourish from Chicago, is for Roosevelt, which is not at all surprising. Mr. Armour, one of the leaders in the trust, has been satisfied with the Roosevelt administration from the start, and that he is the best man for the trust. The other beef trust magnates also join in the declaration which has been given out at Chicago.

Many New York Republicans would be glad to get rid of Governor Odell as manager of the campaign in that State. The injury to his party is clear and Roosevelt himself feels that his own interests are greatly jeopardized. But Odell, with both the power as Governor and State Chairman is crushing all opposition to his boss rule. The result is that the Empire State promises the largest Democratic majority in its entire history.

In the Thirteenth district the campaign will be a lively one for the possession of the seat now held Congressmen Jackson. Hon. D. R. Crissinger, of Marion, the Democratic nominee, intends to wake up the district with an old-fashioned program of enthusiasm and careful organization. His election will result in a net gain of one in congress for the Democrats and might give the latter the one necessary vote to wrest control of the house from the Republicans.

The small influence that the presidential election is having over general business in New York is a matter of much congratulation among business men and financiers. It is practically a unanimous opinion that business has been less disturbed this year than at any presidential campaign in the last thirty years. Conditions are in marked contrast to those presented in 1896 and 1900, when financial scares were the methods adopted by Republican managers to tighten people engaged in any kind of business into voting the Republican ticket. The change this year is welcomed by men of all classes.

AFTER ELECTION

The Temperance Element Will Renew Its Fight on Herrick—P. A. Baker's Statement.

Columbus, Oct. 5—That the anti-Saloon League does not propose to burn all its powder at this time is evidenced by the following statement issued by Superintendent P. A. Baker:

"The anti-Saloon League does not propose to obscure the issues of Governor Herrick's pro-saloon tactics in the last General Assembly by entering into a controversy with any of the party hacks at this time, but when the presidential election is out of the way and the proper time has arrived the temperance people of the state will devote their attention to the Governor in a clearly defined way without mixing up in any other issues. The attempt to make the governor's cause a rider on the presidential campaign is commencing of cowardice and bad taste."

Regarding the charge concerning the deal on the Chisholm pool bill or the part of the league Mr. Baker said:

"Let them take that up if they dare. We are ready on the pool bill. We know it was launched in the Union Club at Cleveland, and Myron T. Herrick was there at the time. We are ready, I say."

AT ALBANY

Former Senator Hill Delivered His First Speech in Campaign—Panama Treaty Criticized.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 5—Former United States Senator David B. Hill made his first speech in the Democratic campaign here before the Albany Constitution club in the Humane Society hall. The speech was devoted to an attack upon the course pursued by President Roosevelt in connection with the Panama canal treaty and the revolution on the isthmus which resulted in the secession of Panama from the republic of Colombia.

Democratic Primary.
The Democratic primaries of Granville Corporation and Township will be held on Saturday, October 8, 1904.

J. H. MCKINNEY, Corp. Comm.

E. F. HOBART, Twp. Comm.

All who pay their subscription in advance will be entitled to make estimates on the Licking county vote $500 in prizes. See announcement in another column.

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. "I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARNETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

The Skies Bright for Democratic Victory.

Never, since the Democratic party went out of power in 1892, have the political skies been as bright for a sweeping Democratic victory as they are this fall. The times, the situation and the people are all ripe for a change in the administration of national affairs. The time-worn bugaboos of the Republican party have lost their effect and the people are determined to again come into their own.

To begin with, the National Democratic Convention was the most remarkable and most harmonious political convention ever held in this country. Democrats, of all shades of political opinion, from all sections of the country, met upon a common level and, throwing behind them minor personal differences, clasped hands in perfect harmony, for the common good, against the common enemy.

A platform was formulated, without a dissenting voice, which was unanimously adopted by the committee to the convention and as unanimously adopted by the convention. There was not even a minority report. Hill and Bryan endorsed that platform and every Democrat can stand upon it.

Even more fortunate and harmonious, if possible, was the convention in its choice of a candidate for President. While a number of the great leaders of the party were talked of, while Mr. Bryan still remains the idol of the great mass of the Democratic party and the talented young Hearst had many followers—still, only one man was seriously thought of, as an available candidate for the present campaign—only one star caught the eye of the assembled democracy of the nation, as the guiding star of political deliverance; and that man, that star, was Judge Parker!

He was nominated with an enthusiasm and a unanimity that was only equalled by the adoption of the platform. Subsequent events and the development of the campaign have only demonstrated the wisdom and the happiness of that nomination.

Judge Parker's name, record and character have proved a tower of strength. His ability and his honesty are admitted. His nomination has inspired the conservative and business portion of the country with a confidence that partisan falsehood and misrepresentation cannot shake. The people know him to be a wise, conservative and safe man, in whose hands the interests of the country will be safe.

Judge Parker's nomination, moreover, has harmonized the Democratic party, the country over, as perhaps nothing else could have done. Democrats are getting in line, everywhere, as they have not for years. No defection can be named from Judge Parker. No great leaders repudiate

All we need to do, fellow Democrats, is to close up the lines; get out the full vote and put that vote in solid for the whole ticket. Thus we shall redeem the country and the country from Rooseveltism, imperialism, and trusts—their shall we rejoice together over a splendid, old time Democratic victory in November!

Moreover ever pain, Burns, cuts, sprains, stings. Instant relief. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store.

Republican League Meets.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Delegates representing 33 states have arrived for the biennial convention of the National Republican League, which met this morning in the German House. Among the prominent arrivals last night were James S. Clarkson and Muriel Halstead. The Arkansas delegation, numbering 33, arrived on a special car, as did the Missouri delegation, and each incoming train brought large numbers. State headquarters have been opened by many of the delegations near the national headquarters.

Cruiser Chattanooga.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The protected cruiser Chattanooga will be placed in commission at the New York navy yard on the 11th instant with Commander Sharpe in command. The Chattanooga was partly constructed by the Nixon Shipbuilding company at Elizabethport, N. J., but was finished at the New York yards.

Destructive Blaze.

Johnson City, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Fire destroyed the lumberyard of the Unaka Lumber company, managed and owned by U. S. Archer & Company of this city. The loss to the yard will reach nearly two hundred thousand dollars. It is known that $70,000 insurance was carried.

Snakes eyes are never closed. Sleeping or waking, alive or dead, they are always wide open. This is because they have no eye-lids.

Distressing Stomach Disease

Quickly cured to stay cured by the masterly power of Drake's Palmetto Wine. Invalids no longer suffer from this dread malady, because this remarkable remedy cures absolutely every form of stomach trouble. It is the sole remedy to remove of stomach weakness and constipation, as well as a regulator of the kidneys and liver.

Only one dose a day and a cure begins with the first dose. Longer or shorter, however, for which you have suffered you are certain of a cure with one small dose a day of Drake's Palmetto Wine, and to convince you of this fact the Drake Formula Company, Drake Building, Chicago, will give you a sample of the Palmetto Wine free and prepaid to every reader of this paper who desires to make a thorough test of this splendid tonic Palmetto remedy. A post card or letter will be your only expense. Sold at Hall's drugstore, Newark, O.

Of course, Judge Parker will carry the Southern states. He will also undoubtedly carry Maryland and West Virginia. It is conceded now—and especially since the splendid nomination of Judge Herrick for Governor—that Judge Parker will sweep New York. As goes New York, so goes Connecticut, Delaware and New Jersey. Coming westward, Republican trouble in Wisconsin will give us the electoral votes in that state. Colorado, Idaho and other mining states will go Democratic. We have a good fighting chance in Indiana and other doubtful states. The skies are indeed bright for Democratic victory!

Coming nearer home, in our own Licking county, we find a most satisfactory condition of affairs. Here we have a united and harmonious democracy, solid for victory; no bolts and no schemes. Our county ticket is first-class, throughout—every man upon it being honest and capable—a credit to himself and to his party.

The Ever-stick Rubber

This Rubber is a pure delight,
And in both ways is "out of sight";
Indeed there's nothing so slick
As the Invisible Everstick.

"It's just too cute for anything"—
That's what the queen says—and the king;
It walked right into favor quick—
The unseen, charming Everstick.

You find it won't come off your shoe
Excepting when you want it to;
Among the smart "400" clique,
The reigning Fad is Everstick.

It sticks. It's natty, neat and nice—
A rubber shoe that satisfies;
Of all the lot it is the pick—
The cute and clever Everstick.

It is a sandal come to "stay"
Just where you need it, all the day;
And though the mud be e'er so thick
It won't pull off the Everstick.

The greatest Rubber shoe that's out
And yet the smallest, without doubt;
With it on the foot, why, you can kick
At anything, save Everstick.

You find this shoe has got a "pull";
Which truly is most wonderful;
To be unseen is just the trick
Of the Invisible Everstick.

You hardly see you have got on
This Para rubber paragon,
Because decollete and chic
The Invisible Rubber Everstick

AMUSEMENTS

Monte Cristo will be tonight's bill by the Murray comedy company at the Auditorium. This popular company has been playing at the Auditorium each season for several years and is a favorite in Newark.

SI PLUNKARD NEXT MONDAY. J. C. Lewis, the Yankee character comedian, and his company of 20 artists will commence an engagement at the Auditorium Monday night, October 10. An exchange says: "Whenever the name of Si Plunkard is mentioned where he has been before, the quiet face becomes bright with the thought of the good natured Yankee farmer, who has caused so many to hold their sides in laughter at his peculiarities. He is not an imaginary character, but one which you can meet every day by visiting small country towns. He is not a man of education, but simply a simple Yankee farmer whose home is always open for the weary traveler. Si Plunkard is not a jumble, but a well devised and exceptionally strong and interesting comedy with a plot taken from every day life. It shows the traps and snares set for the innocent and unsophisticated public. It is a play that any one can take a lesson from." The company carries an orchestra and band and will give their famous country band parade, announcing their arrival.

THE RAVEN. Maurice Campbell's production of "The Raven" will be the attraction at the Auditorium next Wednesday night. "The Raven" as everyone must know, has to do with Edgar Allan Poe, and this play is built out of the life of the great American poet. "The Raven" was written by George C. Hazelton Jr., who is the author also of that famous play "Mistress Nell" in which Henrietta Crosman made her great success several years ago and which at that time was the talk of the country. "The Raven" is described as a love play and is a mixture of laughter and tears. The production will be made by Maurice Campbell who is now interested with David Belasco, and the play will be staged by Henrietta Crosman who has herself personally coached the actors in their parts. This performance should attract a crowded house.

OLIVER SCOTT MINSTRELS. Messrs. J. M. Kane and Edward A. Bradnock, who for the past two seasons have been with the Porepaugh-Sells big circus, will, at the close of this season, assume charge of the Oliver Scott minstrels, one of the best known and most popular minstrel organizations in the country. Mr. Kane, who is well known in Newark, will be the manager and Mr. Bradnock, who is an old Newark boy, will be the advance agent.

POOR WIDOW

Took in Washing to Fight Her Case, Studied the Law and Finally Won Out.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—By a decision of the supreme court Anna M. Hawkins of Hocking county, a poor widow, will recover $3,000 from the Toledo Railway and Light company.

About three years ago Mrs. Hawkins, with her husband, was in Toledo on an excursion, and her partner in life was killed by one of the cars of the plaintiff in error. She sued as administratrix, and received a verdict of $2,500, with interest from the time of the accident. The high court affirmed the decision, and she will now get about $2,000.

So anxious was Mrs. Hawkins in the case that she has been a frequent visitor to the clerk's office, and by paying attention to the procedure has gained much knowledge of law. During the life of the case in the courts Mrs. Hawkins has taken in washing to educate her children and earn money enough to push the case.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1905.

Mr. L. Frank Baum, author of "The Wizard of Oz," and of other popular fairy stories for boys and girls, will contribute the leading serial to St. Nicholas for the coming year. It is called "Queen Zixi of Ix," and its illustrations are to be a new departure for St. Nicholas—they will be all in colors, sixteen full pages and more than sixty small pictures printed with the text, the work of Mr. Fred Richardson, formerly a Chicago artist, but now living in New York. The story is one which ought to keep the interest of St. Nicholas boys and girls throughout the year.

EXCURSION TO COAST COUNTRY OF TEXAS.

The board of trade and other business organizations state they have plans for showing the visitors that hospitality is our tap.

STRIKE ENDS

SHAWNEE COAL MINERS BACK AT WORK.

OFFICIALS REACH AN AGREEMENT WITH THE OPERATORS—THERE IS LITTLE TROUBLE NOW IN OHIO.

By a visit to the John, Ohio, Hocking miners at Shawnee on Tuesday the strike of but a few days' duration was settled by Wm. Green, president of the local sub-district, and Vice President A. C. Smith. The 70 miners affected return to work on Wednesday morning says today's Zanesville Times Recorder. The cause of the strike was a misunderstanding between miners and operators. The mine is on the line of the Hocking Valley district and the Crooksville district. Under temporary agreement the operations were allowed at the mine during the summer, while the strike in this sub-district existed. Since the settling of the strike a new agreement was wanted.

With the arrangements completed

Tuesday by the officials of the United Mine Workers the coal will be loaded on the basis of the Crooksville district scale, while the cutting will be done under a special day scale.

President Green returned to his home in Coshocton Tuesday evening and Vice President Smith to his home in Byesville.

With the agreement reached at Shawnee Tuesday there exists but little trouble in mining circles throughout the state at the present time. The only difficulties exist at the Wade and Morgan Run mines in Coshocton county. This concerns the scales used in weighing the coal. The miners have been out on strike for some time past.

It seems the scales used favor the operators, while the miners were advised to strike if hopper scales were not installed. Many conferences have been held, but as yet no hope for a settlement is in sight.

The Advocate offers $500 in cash and prizes for the best estimates on the total vote in Licking county at the November election. It costs nothing to participate. All who pay their subscription in advance will be entitled to make estimates. There are 136 prizes. Read the full announcement in another column.

The Fair Club will give a grand opening ball at Armory Hall on East Main street, October 6. Music by European orchestra. Everybody invited.

E. W. BREECE

Former Newark man slightly injured in a runaway in Eastern Knox County.

E. W. Breece, superintendent of the Vernon Telephone company, a former resident of Newark, and Dale Bradfield were slightly injured Monday afternoon as the result of a runaway accident. They were driving in the eastern part of Knox county and when about half a mile between Danville and Brink Haven their horse took fright at some cattle along the side of the road. The animal cut such a corner that the buggy was upset and both men were thrown out. Mr. Bradfield held tight to the horse and succeeded in stopping the horse. Both occupants of the vehicle were somewhat bruised up, but not badly hurt.

A JUDICIAL INQUIRY.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds androup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

WEDDING

OF REV. H. R. CLEM AND MISS MARY SANFORD AT HARTFORD—MARRIAGE WAS A SURPRISE.

CROTON, O., Oct. 5—Rev. H. Russel Clem, who recently went from Croton to Defiance, O., to enter school returned last week, claiming it was homesick up there and he persuaded Miss Mary Sanford to resign her position as teacher in the intermediate grade of the Croton schools, and return with him Tuesday.

That he might continue his school work more contentedly, Miss Sanford however did not consent until Sunday noon, when Rev. J. A. Barr, at the home of her parents, in the presence of a few near relatives, declared Mr. Clem and herself man and wife. While at this time the event was much of a surprise to our people and our school board was slow to accept the resignation of one of their best teachers on short notice, all accepted the situation and good naturedly gave them an old time "hurrah" and a tin, wood, chin and linen shower at the close.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem are among our very best young people and to be sure everybody wishes them the very best things in life.

Miss Alice Dixon, a former and successful teacher in our schools, has been secured to take Mrs. Clem's place.

PROMISED

TO WED A MAN WHO SHE DECLARÉS ALREADY HAS A WIFE—LILLIAN SUES FOR $20,000.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5—Lillian Bauer of New York City, has filed suit in the United States court to recover $20,000 from Arthur J. Bennett, president of the Cambridge Glass Works, in Cambridge.

The plaintiff alleges that in September, 1901, Bennett, representing himself to be an unmarried man, promised to marry her as soon as he obtained a position with the Cambridge Glass Works. This was in New York City. In December of the same year he was elected president of the company. Then the plaintiff asked him to keep his promise. She says she learned that he was already married. The plaintiff alleges that she has held herself in readiness to fulfill her part of the agreement, but Bennett steadily refuses. She asks for a verdict for $20,000 damages for her injured feelings. Bennett is one of the most prominent citizens of Cambridge.

A New Stoker.
The Pennsylvania is testing a new stoker. It is in the shape of a pen connected with the fire door, and is operated by twin screws that force the coal into the firebox. The screws are set in motion by two steam chests fed from the boiler. All the firemen has to do is to keep the pan filled with coal. It is claimed that the stoker will spread the coal more evenly over the fire than can be done by hand firing. The device is intended to save coal and relieve the firemen.

Preparing for Winter.
The railroad shops are always a scene of much activity in the fall of the year. With the approach of winter, the rolling stock and motive power is placed in the best possible condition. Several roads are buying new equipment in order to be in shape to handle the winter traffic.

SCULPTOR BIONDI AND HIS MUCH DISCUSSED "SATURNALIA."

Sculptor Ernesto Biondi has been very much in the public eye of late by reason of his suit against the directors of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. Biondi asks for $200,000 damages, alleging the directors have put his group, "Saturnalia," which won the Grand Prix de Paris in 1900, in such an obscure position as to injure grievously his professional reputation. The directors say that they were influenced solely by their judgment of the merit of the group, which, they declare, is not good art.

Her Confession.

She had heard the Bible story of the world when all was young; of Adam and Eve and the apple, and the serpent's siren tongue; of the wrath that swift descended; of the joys we must forego, and of that fair, lost Eden whose peace we might never know.

She looked around the nursery, and her face that had been so glad lost all its bonny radiance, and wistful grey—and sad.

She looked at her dolls and dishes, at the books she loved the best, at the doll that was blind and broken, and dearer than all the rest. "Poor woman!" The drooping lashes did wet and sweet uncurl. "I'm 'mostest sorry because her—was never a little girl!"

No a Loan.

A little girl went timidly into a Fifth street store the other morning and asked the clerk how many shoestrings she could get for 5 cents.

"How long do you want them?" he asked.

"I want them to keep," was her answer in a tone of slight surprise.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Poor Memories.

"I may be forgetful, ma," said Tommy, looking up from his book, "but I ain't as forgetful as sailors are."

"How do you mean?" asked his mother.

"Why, they can never remember the weight of their anchor. They have to weigh it every time they leave port!"

Our Social Distinctions.

NO SCORE

MADE IN GAME PLAYED WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Newark High and Denison's Second Eleven Played 0 to 0 at Idlewild Park.

For two fiercely contested halves of 20 minutes each, under a hot sun, the Newark High school and second Denison elevens struggled for supremacy on the Idlewild baseball grounds, neither side being able to score.

A tremendous crowd saw the game, including hundreds of school children. There was no charge made for admission to the game. There were no arrangements to keep the crowd in, which at times swarmed over the field, greatly inconveniencing the players.

Every man on the Newark team did good work, but Stuck, Pine and Nihls are deserving of special mention. On offense Pine was the best ground gainer for Newark, and he was also impregnable in defensive work.

Stuck got the ball near the close of the second half on a fumble and made a 65 yard run to within five yards of the Denison goal. It was a spectacular piece of work, and the crowd became wildly excited. His defense was also brilliant. Time and again he would break through and tackle a runner for a loss. In this respect also, Nihls was great.

After Stuck's run a touchdown for Newark seemed inevitable, but a fumble lost them the ball.

Once in the first half also, Newark got within striking distance of Denison's goal, but lost the ball on a fumble.

Webber for Denison was clearly a star. He was good in every department of the game.

He was irresistible in ground gain, tackled low and fiercely and ran his team with excellent judgment. Webber is catcher for the Denison Varsity and is one of the best college catchers in Ohio.

DENISON

Has a Great Chance Against Ohio State in Next Saturday's Game.

The Odds.

It is reported that Denison sports are willing to bet even money on their team's chances of beating Ohio State. Those odds, if such are offered, are false. Five to three with the long end on Ohio State would be about right.

Ohio State Journal.

If any Denison rooter offers even money he is foolish. The Journal's odds are about right.

It is to be hoped that Denison beats Ohio State, and we believe Stanton's team has a good chance, but there is no use letting one's enthusiasm run away with his judgment.

Johnson, the Newark Player.

Romeo Johnson, the colored fullback who had done such good work for Denison for several years is now playing on the Ohio Medic team. He started the season as a half back, but his work in last Saturday's game against Denison did not impress Coach Lacy, who on Tuesday shifted Johnson to left tackle and Murray to half. Johnson has had experience at tackle and Murray is no stranger to half back.

A Lucky Bet.

"Talking of lucky men," remarked Pid McGinnis, the Chicago ball player, the other day, "reminds me of a bet made by Arthur Irwin in 1899 who was with the Toronto team."

"Some one had primed him with dope on the strength of the Yale football team, and he wagered $400 that Harvard would not score."

"When he confided this fact to some of his friends who knew the real strength of the crimson eleven, they speedily convinced him of the foolish character of the bet, and he soon proceeded to hedge by betting a similar amount that Yale would not score. The game ended 0 to 0 and Irwin won both bets."

BOILS AND ERUPTIONS

Have been suffering from Impure Blood for many years, having Boils and other Eruptions. Having heard of S. S. S. I decided to try it, and am glad to say that it has done me a great deal of good. I intend to continue to use it, as I believe it to be the best Blood Medicine on the market.

Cleveland, Tenn. W. K. DETERS.

For over fifteen years I have suffered more or less from Impure Blood. About a year ago I had a boil appear on my leg below the knee, which was followed by three more on my neck. I saw S. S. S. advertised and decided to try it. After taking three bottles all Boils disappeared and I have not been troubled any since.

From childhood I had been bothered with bad blood, skin eruptions and boils. I had boils ranging from five to twenty in number each season. The burning accompanying the eruption was terrible. S. S. S. seemed to be just the medicine needed in my case. It drove out all impurities and bad blood, giving me permanent relief from the skin eruption and boils. This has been ten years ago, and I have never had a return of the disease.

BLOCKADE OF PORT ARTHUR

Details of Attempts to Bottle Up the Russian Fleet.

REMARKABLE SACRIFICE OF LIFE

Skill, Coolness, Perseverance and Daring Displayed at Three Different Times Unsurpassed in History of Human Warfare, Says William E. Curtis—Heroism of a Youth.

The most sensational event of the Russo-Japanese war thus far was the triple attempt to bottle up the Russian fleet in the harbor at Port Arthur, says William E. Curtis, the special correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, writing from Tokyo under the date of July 28. The Japanese adopted what may be termed the Hobson plan and sunk no less than seventeen steamship hulls loaded with stone, railroad iron and loose cement in and around the narrow channel. They were more successful than Hobson at Santiago, and the action of the water upon the cement and other cargo was to make the vessels practically solid blocks of concrete which the Russians have been trying for months to clear away by the use of dynamite. The skill, coolness, perseverance and daring displayed on the three different occasions is unsurpassed in the history of human warfare. The result of the first attempt was a failure, and the fate of the men who participated in it made the heroism of the second party even more remarkable. And the fate of the second party left the officers and sailors who volunteered for the third attempt almost without hope. They went at their task without the slightest hesitation, however, although they realized that it meant almost certain death, and, as the London Times has remarked:

Their heroism was never surpassed and rarely equaled in the annals of war. Out of the 158 officers and men who volunteered for the forlorn hope only forty-one came back alive. But the lives of their gallant comrades were not sacrificed in vain. Happy indeed is the country where bravery and intelligence are combined in so just a measure. Japan has lost some whom any country in any age might have mourned with pride, and it is their death which has enabled her to make a fresh stage in what bids fair to be the most momentous of modern campaigns.

In the three attempts 179 lives were sacrificed. The following is the record:

First	Second	Third	attempt	attempt	Total.
Killed	5	15	22	42
Died of	1	1	1	1
wounds	3	6	12
Missing	12	24	89	155
Returned	11	17	41	69
Safely	51	59	153	248
Totals	51	59	153	248

It is almost certain that most of the missing men were killed, because reliable reports from Port Arthur give the total number of naval prisoners in the hands of the Russians as only fifteen, and two of them have committed suicide since. Of the dead and missing twenty-four were officers.

The cost in money was also large, although insignificant compared with the loss of life. The following are the official Japanese figures:

No. vessels.	Value in yen.
First attempt.....	5 62,800
Second attempt.....	4 618,800
Third attempt.....	8 1,800,000
Totals	17 3,041,000

The vessels used were old mercantile steamers, most of them built in the seventies and eighties, and their tonnage ranged from 1,250 to 2,978. The value of the cargo of stone, cement and iron is placed at 400,000 yen.

There are two harbors at Port Arthur, an inner and an outer harbor. The entrance to the outer harbor from the open sea is about a mile and a half wide, between two promontories known as Golden Hill and Mantoushan, on both of which are formidable fortifications. The actual channel used by vessels drawing twenty-two feet of water or more is about 800 yards wide, and, as a matter of protection, the Russians have anchored buoys projecting from either shore, leaving a very narrow passage. On both sides of the buoys are anchored so as to obstruct the entrance of an enemy from the outside. The first attempt, as I have said, was a failure, and the five vessels were scuttled and sunk outside of the passage. The second attempt was more successful, but still left a portion of the channel clear.

The third attempt was completely successful. Three steamers, the Yedo (1,724 tons), the Odara (1,547 tons) and the Sagami (1,926 tons), were sunk in such a way as to close the entrance entirely to vessels of heavy draft.

Torpedo boats and destroyers drawing not more than twelve or fourteen feet have been able to pass in and out, but it took three months of blasting to clear a way for cruisers and battleships. Even then they had to be navigated with the greatest care along a channel marked with buoys and could not pass in the night.

The success of the third attempt was the more remarkable because it was made in a gale of wind. The sea was so heavy that an open boat could scarcely survive, which is doubtless one reason for the large mortality, and the weather was so thick that the commanders of the co-operating vessels could not communicate or even see each other.

The Yedo, Odara and Sagami lie side by side, bows pointing in, at the exact center of the channel, at the exact place named in the instructions to their commanders, where they were coolly scuttled by their own crews. The Yedo, which was leading the squadron, passed in between the buoys, struck a contact mine and sank broadside across the channel just beyond the narrowest part. The Mikawa went by her and was blown up by her own crew, most of whom escaped. She went down lengthwise almost in the center of the channel. The Asagao was disabled by the guns of the Russian fortifications and drifted aground before reaching the entrance. The Sakura struck an electric submarine mine before reaching the narrow place, and every soul on board—Commander Shiraishi and nineteen men—was lost.

While the Yedo was bucking and filling in order to find the exact position where she was to be sunk, as indicated on the chart, she was hit by a shell from a fort on Golden Hill, which killed her commander, Lieutenant Tagayagi. Sublieutenant Nagata, a boy twenty years old, took command, and under a torrent of shot and shell from fortifications on both sides of the channel he proceeded to carry out his orders as coolly as if he were maneuvering in a peaceful harbor. He held in his hand the chart which had fallen from the grasp of his superior officer, whose mangled body lay at his feet, and gave orders to the helmsman and the engineer. When he had found his place he ordered the anchor to be dropped, scuttled his ship, took to the boats and managed to reach a torpedo boat which was lying, for the purpose of rescue, in the darkness outside. He brought in all of his men but two, one of them being his commander, and twelve of the eighteen were uninjured. It was a miraculous escape.

The Odara and Sagami were sunk in the same way at the same time alongside of the Yedo, but every man on board of them was lost. Some of them are supposed to have reached the land and from rumors brought out by Chinese coolies from Port Arthur it is believed that they fought their captors until they were themselves killed. The Aikoku, like the Sakura, struck a submarine mine before reaching the channel and went down. Eight of her men were drowned, but her commander, Lieutenant Inutsuka, and sixteen of the twenty-four men in his crew were rescued by a torpedo boat.

In his official report, from which I have obtained the greater part of this information, the commander of the flotilla says that a storm sprang up suddenly about the time the boats were starting—a southeasterly squall, with hull and rain and mist—and he signaled all of the vessels to withdraw and wait for more favorable conditions, but the weather was so thick that the signals were not seen, and following up their original instructions, the commanders of the eight hulls made a dash for the harbor. The searchlights usually operated from the fortifications soon disclosed their presence to the Russians, and during the last thirty minutes of their voyage they were under a raking fire from the forts on both sides and were constantly colliding with mines in the water. It was a miracle that any of them reached their destination. But the Japanese on board went on about their business as coolly as if they were at practice and no enemy were near. Even the stolid and unsympathetic Russians were thrilled with admiration at their coolness and daring.

In this complicated situation the dean of the consular corps at Shanghai, the American consul general, John Goodnow, helped to effect the solution of the difficulties. The prudence of the officer in command of the Asiatic squadron of the American navy, Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, also served to avoid international complications. The Chinese authorities proved too weak and vacillating to compel the Russian war vessels to comply with the rules of neutrality. When the consuls met to consider the emergency created Mr. Goodnow presided. The firm attitude adopted by the consular corps helped to convince the Russian government of the wisdom of dismantling the Askold and Grozovoi.

Let every man set aside all thought of making a name for himself, and let us all work together for the attainment of our object. It is a mistaken idea of bravery to court death unnecessarily. Death and fame are not our objects in this attempt. Our only object is success, and we die in vain if we do not carry out our orders. You all know what those orders are, and what is expected of us. If I am killed Lieutenant Yamamoto will take command.

If he is killed you will take your orders from the chief warrant officer, and if he dies from the next in rank, and so on until the last man. Keep cool. Do not be excited. Do not hurry. And remember that the last man may have to carry out our orders alone.

No one knows what happened upon the Sagami, except that the instructions given to Lieutenant Yuasa were carried out literally to the last. His hull lies on the bottom of the channel, exactly where he was instructed to place it, but every man on board was lost.

The report of his simple little speech to his men was brought from the Sagami by an aid-de-camp of the commander of the flotilla, who was so deeply impressed by it that he wrote down the words immediately after hearing them.

All of the men who participated in the three expeditions, the dead as well as the living, have been promoted and decorated by order of the emperor. It is an amiable custom of the Japanese to bestow decorations and other honors upon the dead. The government has also granted life pensions varying from 300 to 500 yen ($150 to $250) a year upon the wounded and the families of the dead.

This story ought to be known to every sailor and every soldier in the world.

Church Building and the Decalogue.

Acting on the advice of the Rev. F. Ross Parrish, Contractor L. O. Miller, who is building the new church in Logansport, Ind., for the Broadway Methodist congregation, recently hung in his office and conspicuous places about the site huge placards bearing the Ten Commandments, says a Logansport correspondent of the Henderson Journal. Strict adherence to these injunctions is required of every laborer employed. Special stress is laid upon one prohibiting profanity. Repeated violation of any commandment by the laborers is considered cause for discharge. The type in which the placards are printed can be read across the street. While the Market Street Methodist church was building the contractor was required to give bond that no workman employed would use tobacco, liquor or profanity during work hours. The men struck.

NEUTRALITY MIXUP.

PART BORNE BY TWO AMERICANS IN SHANGHAI INCIDENT.

Peaceful Solution of the Difficulty Largely Due to the Wise Course of Consul General Goodnow and Admiral Yates Stirling.

The recent presence in the harbor of Shanghai, China, of Russian and Japanese war vessels at the same time created a situation full of complications and dangerous to the preservation of the neutrality of China. After the disastrous encounter of the Russian Port Arthur fleet with the Japanese Admiral Togo on Aug. 10 the cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyed Grozovoi, which had been damaged in the conflict, took refuge in the harbor of Shanghai and began to make repairs. A Japanese torpedo boat destroyer followed them into the harbor. It looked for a time as if an attack on the Russian vessels by the Japanese destroyer might occur then and there, in violation of the neutrality of the port and to the injury of the property of Americans and other foreigners. The Russian vessels refused

HIS ATONEMENT

(Original.)

Bert Trowbridge was a harum scarum young fellow whom everybody loved. When the civil war broke out Bert was one of the first to enlist. He was recklessly brave, and this soon made him an officer.

One day a brother officer of Bert was wounded, and Bert remained blind while the army pushed on. They were near one of those old plantations with a colonial residence in its center, common in Virginia. Trowbridge carried his friend there. The wounded man was taken in, placed in one of the best rooms in the house and given every attention. Bert left his companion in charge of the inmates and went out to the stable to see that their horses were provided with fodder. When he returned, a young girl was carrying a salver on which were a dish of bread and some delicacies.

Elinor Digby was a typical Virginia maiden. Her complexion was olive, her hair and eyes jet black, while her cheeks were a pair of roses. Trowbridge had been campaigning with men for his sole companions, and had scarcely laid eyes on a woman for more than a year. The consequence was that this apparition of womanly loveliness threw him into a sudden fever. Without stopping to consider the enormity of the offense, the violation of hospitality, ingratitude for kindness to himself and his wounded friend, he exclaimed, "I'm going to have a kiss if I die for it" and, taking the girl at the disadvantage of having her hands employed, put his arms around her neck and kissed her.

The moment he had offended he realized what he had done. The hot blood rushed into the girl's face, and her eyes gleamed with indignation, scorn and what brought most remorse to Trowbridge the pained expression of one who had received an evil return for kindness. "For shame!" she exclaimed. "We have received you into our home, we are taking every care of your friend. I am carrying him nourishment with my own hands instead of sending it by one of the women, and you who look like a gentleman, treat me as if you were a vandal. Some day I will make you pay for this!"

"And some day I will do penance." Without taking further notice of him the girl went upstairs, and he heard her enter the room of his wounded comrade.

The war ended without Trowbridge again coming near the Digby plantation or seeing Elinor Digby. He had not forgotten her—he could never forget her—but the episode seemed a thing of the past. Her threat to make him pay for the indignity he had offered her and his promise of atonement seemed now improbable of realization. The south had been prostrated by the war and was slowly recovering.

Pendleton Livingston a Former Licking County Man, Cousin of S. B. Livingston Meets With Tragic Death South of Mt. Vernon.

The following special dispatch from the Advocate's correspondent at Mt. Vernon tells of the tragic death of Pendleton Livingston, a former Licking county man and cousin of S. B. Livingston, of this city:

Mt. Vernon, O., October 5—Pendleton Livingston, a middle aged man, who was born and brought up at Rocky Fork, in Licking county, but who has been working in Mt. Vernon for the past four months, was the victim of a fatal accident Sunday night. During the early part of the evening he was seen about the depot here, and had been drinking some, but not sufficient to make him intoxicated.

He boarded B. & O. passenger train No 16 to go to Utica, but as he had no ticket or money he was put off the train by the Conductor, Fuller Moore, at Hunt's station.

Wednesday morning about 8 o'clock Engineer Kane noticed the body lying alongside the track, about half a mile south of Hunt's station. Coroner Norrick of Knox county, was notified and went to the scene and viewed the body. On examination it was found that his head had been crushed and that his neck was mashed, having evidently fallen from the roof of the train.

Utica, O., Oct. 5.—The body of Pendleton Livingston was found this morning by the B. & O. railway track a half mile from Hunt's station by Levi Dove, a section man. Mr. Dove went to a telephone and called H. E. Harris of Utica asking him to notify Aaron Livingston, a brother who was working near Martinsburg. Mr. Harris later found Mr. Livingston in town and wired to have the remains sent to Utica on this noon's train but the body did not arrive. Burial is to be made near Rocky Fork.

ON NEWARK CO'S NOTE

Judge Borrowed $5,000 and Kept Half the Money

Only $2,500 Turned Over and a Suit is Brought

--Judgments Aggregate $100,000--

The Court Record.

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 5.—According to the court record, Wilbur F. Sadler, Republican non-nee for judge, borrowed $5,000 on the note of an Ohio company of which he was a stockholder, kept half of it for own use, when he was judge, and let the company pay the whole debt. The rental will be of interest throughout Ohio and especially in Columbus and Newark.

Those records and the affidavit of the machine company tell that the machine company tell that the company, on June 17, 1889, executed and delivered to Sadler, at his request, a promissory note drawn for the company by J. P. McCune president, and dated at Columbus, O., for $5,000, payable four months after date. At the order of A. R. Appleman, A. Miller, F. S. Wright and W. A. Robbins, at the Deshler bank, Columbus, O.

Sadler drew all the money, but remitted to the machine company only $2,500, with the promise that he would send the other half of the $5,000 "in a few days." He did not keep the promise and after many years, suit was brought.

In the Cumberland common pleas, February term, 1898, the machine company sued to recover from Sadler

$2,500, with interest from March 27, 1894, and $50, with interest from April 22, 1892. As to the $2,500, which he pocketed instead of handing it over to the men who had trusted him to get it for them, Sadler pleaded that they owed him more than that for various services.

The present chapter is explanatory of an unsatisfied judgment entered by the Newark Machine company of Newark, O., for $2,791.73 against Sadler, in the Cumberland county court, on September 15, 1898. The unsatisfied judgments against Sadler, aggregating about $100,000, scattered throughout the last 11 years, include a number of claims which, like the Newark company's, are the outcome of the ex-judge's shady transactions not heretofore exposed to public print.

Who is Harris?

A message from Zanesville says that Ralph Harris, colored, late of Granville, is said to have been in that city Tuesday, adding that Harris is wanted at Granville for stabbing an officer. A message from Granville Wednesday afternoon says that Harris is unknown there.

ONE FOOT

Must be Cut from Each Railway Tie, According to the Ruling of the City Council.

Sterling, Ill., Oct. 5.—The Common Council of Sterling at a special meeting ordered the officials of the Sterling, Dixon and Eastern Electric railway to cut 12 inches off every tie in the city of Sterling. This is the result of a controversy between the officials of the company and the street and alleys committee.

The franchise specifies that the company must keep in repair seven feet of the streets on which its tracks are laid. The city is now macadamizing nine blocks of street on which the tracks of the company are laid, and the streets and alleys committee holds that the company will not macadamize the seven feet under direction of the City Council, but wants to do the work as it pleases.

In retaliation the committee after discovering the ties were eight feet long, passed a resolution to reduce them to seven feet.

MT. VERNON, Oct. 5.—The price of gas has been the general topic for discussion in Mt. Vernon for the past week or so. Many merchants of the city are rebelling against the high rate charged for the heating and lighting of business houses.

There is a rumor to the effect that a company will soon be formed composed of Mt. Vernon men, for the purpose of bringing gas into this city from the Homer field. A well known Mt.
